Wrap up and next steps

Congratulations on completing our guidance. We hope you've enjoyed reading it, and we hope you continue your important journey on stigma reduction.

You should now be equipped with the knowledge and tools to enable you to plan, implement and monitor stigma reduction activities within your programmes and projects. Your understanding will allow you to develop combined approaches to fundamentally change behaviour around stigma.

If you have any questions or want to get in touch, contact us at sbc@sightsavers.org

Before you finish, watch our video to hear Lois explain why tackling stigma is so vital.

What should I do next?

- Add stigma reduction activities and monitoring in your next project design process
- Carry out some of the activities within your projects or with your partners
- Share your knowledge with colleagues and partners
- Share the link to the guidance with colleagues and partners
- Profile the stigma guidance on your social media accounts
- Regularly remind yourself of the stigma guidance content when you need it
